GINS

Sipsmith's London Gin	3.60
Sipsmith's was established in London in 2009; it is the first copper-pot based distillery to start up in London in 189 years. English barley spirit and a selection of ten botanicals, the result is a particularly dry gin with a zesty, citrus freshness.
Gabriel Boudier Saffron Gin	3.50
In addition to the saffron which gives a delicate, spicy character, the recipe also includes juniper, coriander, lemon, orange peel, angelica seeds, iris and fennel creating a complex, memorable gin.
Tarquin Cornish Gin	3.80
The first and only gin to be crafted in Cornwall for a century in St Ervan, Wadebridge. Flavours of juniper and orange blossom infused with Devon violets, blended with spring water from the north Cornish coast.
Hendrick's Gin	3.50
Hendrick's is an unusual gin with an 'unexpected' infusion of cucumber and rose petals. Cucumber is recommended instead of lemon in your gin.
Plymouth Gin	3.00
Plymouth's uniquely smooth taste is based on a recipe which dates back to 1793 and specifies a unique blend of seven ingredients or botanicals distilled in combination with pure grain alcohol and soft Dartmoor water.
Plymouth Sloe Gin	3.00
Sloe gin has a rich, red colour the result of steeping sloe berries in Plymouth gin. The result is a smooth liqueur taste with a beautiful balance between sweet and bitter fruit.
Fever Tree Tonic	2.25
This is our tonic of choice. Created by the owner of Plymouth Gin, who realised that when at gin tastings all the gins were varied and expressive until you added tonics. He created a more natural, less carbonated tonic than the well known alternatives. Fever Tree is the local name for the cinchona tree in Congo, the bark of which produces quinine, the essential bitterness in tonic.
